Why HM? Horace Mann gives its students the resources to pursue any interest imaginable. The Horace Mann community has a diverse array of passions, and Horace Mann gives us the ability to create clubs, print publications, and attend trips for extracurricular activities.

Activities: Editor-in-Chief of The Review, Novice Director of the Debate Team, teach middle-schoolers debate at In-Tech Academy, Student Ambassador

Out-of-school activities: Teen Leader at the New-York Historical Society

Favorite cafeteria food: My favorite cafeteria food is the tomato mozzarella panini. It makes every Tuesday better!

Favorite TV show: My favorite TV show is The Newsroom.

Favorite school trip: My favorite school trip was to the Tournament of Champions in Kentucky, with the debate team. This trip is just one example of the many opportunities Horace Mann provides its students to pursue their passions in extracurricular activities.

Favorite spot on campus: The library. Though students study in the library, it also is a social hub on campus. When in the library, I'm able to prepare for upcoming tests with my friends while having fun.

Favorite thing about HM: Teachers care a great amount about their students and will meet with them any time to make sure that students understand concepts, or just to talk about shared interests.
