

HORACE MANN SCHOOL

Manhattan Campus – 55 East 90th Street

Head of Nursery Division, Effective July 1, 2019

Horace Mann School, one of the nation's preeminent day schools and the largest N-12 independent school in New York City, is a well-respected academic institution with high expectations and abundant human and physical resources. With 1,786 students in five divisions from preschool through twelfth grade and 262 faculty members, the School is a vibrant and diverse community of learners. Of those students and faculty, 144 students, in Threes, PreKindergarten and Kindergarten, and 29 faculty and staff members are at the Nursery Division. The hallmarks of a Horace Mann School education include a rigorous foundation in the liberal arts; dynamic interactions among students and faculty; an appreciation and respect for diversity; and enormous breadth and depth of academic and extracurricular offerings encouraging students to lead great and giving lives through excellence in their endeavors.

The successful candidate for Head of Nursery Division will be a person with experience in a similar position and proven success working with faculty and staff members and young children and their families. The Head is the educational leader of the division and Horace Mann School's connection to the community of early childhood programs in NYC, NY, NJ and CT. The best-qualified candidate will have an advanced degree in early childhood or elementary education, NYS certification and a thorough understanding of NYC and NYSED regulations. The next Head must demonstrate the ability to lead with vision and foster excellence in teaching and learning within a Reggio Emilia inspired emergent curriculum. The Head of Nursery Division is both the primary onsite administrator and the link between the division and the rest of the school in the Bronx and Connecticut. As such, the Head of the Nursery Division must possess the skills to work cooperatively as a member of a large administrative team, including actively participating in the school's admissions process.
